Quick flag – after re-reading the Judge’s individual rules, we are required to include “the date of the parties’ next scheduled appearance before the Court,” and therefore will be adding the below:

“The parties are scheduled to appear before this Court on April 2, 2025 at 12:00 p.m. for the initial pretrial conference. ECF No. 8.”

The revised letter is acceptable, except that "it" should be changed to "is" in the except below. We'll reserve on the question of the timing of the Initial Pretrial Conference, but concur that our disagreement on that issue doesn't need to hold up the filing of your letter. With that typo correction, you have our consent.

Rollin,

Thank you for confirming UMG's consent to the extended briefing scheduling as proposed. We have made some further edits, including based on the fact that Court has now entered the March 17 deadline. Our edited version attached as well as a redline to the version you sent last night.

We cannot, however, agree to request an adjournment of the initial pretrial conference until after a decision on the motion to dismiss. As you will understand, our client is eager to begin discovery as soon as possible and we have no reason to think that the Complaint would be dismissed in its entirety (if UMG even moves to dismiss). We would consent to any request by you to appear at the conference remotely rather than in person should you request to do so.

We trust that disagreement on moving the pretrial conference need not hold up parties' agreement on the other dates and that we can file this letter as currently drafted. Please let us know.

Thanks,
Annie

Rollin,

As previewed last night, we think the Court would appreciate only having to consider the briefing schedule once and do not believe setting such dates is premature. To that end, we ask for your consent in setting the below briefing schedule.

	Deadline per Federal Rules	Requested Deadline	Length of Extension
Motion to Dismiss	February 11, 2025	March 17, 2025	34 days
Opposition to Motion to Dismiss	March 31, 2025	April 16, 2025	14 days
Reply in support of Motion to Dismiss	April 23, 2025	April 30, 2025	7 days

Please advise as we would like to get this on file today.

Thanks,
Annie

Annie:

Your e-mail is incorrect. I did not say that UMG “expects to need more time” or that UMG “knows it does not intend” to file its response by March 17. What I said is that we had previously requested a longer extension, your client refused, and that while we hope and expect to file a response by March 17, our request is without prejudice to requesting more time if we ultimately conclude it is needed (and your client may agree to or oppose any such further extension). I therefore advised that I think it’s premature to discuss a briefing schedule, which you indicated on our call you understood. Nonetheless, I am happy to discuss a potential briefing schedule further tomorrow – please let me know some specific times that work. In the meanwhile, we’ll go ahead and file our letter request for the extension to which your client has twice consented.

Best regards.

Rollin,

Following up on our conversation, I understand that UMG is reluctant to agree to a full briefing schedule now because UMG expects to need more time to respond than what it is currently asking for.

To be clear, when we consented to the March 17, 2025 extension, it was on the understanding that UMG would actually be filing a responsive pleading that day and we do not have authorization to consent to an extension to a filing deadline that UMG knows it does not intend to keep. We continue to believe that it is appropriate to set a full briefing schedule now and would like to confer with you regarding the specifics of that proposal.

We think we can come to a mutual resolution here and look forward to building out a full schedule. I am generally available tomorrow afternoon to meet and confer.

Thanks,
Annie

Understood respecting service. In your January 15 e-mail, you advised that you had no objection to an extension to March 17, 2025, and would agree to stipulate to such an extension. We've prepared a letter request to Judge Vargas (per her Individual Rules) for such an extension, a copy of which is attached. Please advise if you have any comments; if not, we'll get this on file shortly.
